

Deborah Gloston

July 27, 1949 - November 13, 2024

Deborah Gay Booker Gloston, 75, was born on July 27, 1949, in Galveston, Texas, to Ida Mae Sinegaure and Clarence Booker. She went home to be with her Lord and Savior on November 13, 2024, surrounded by her family.

Deborah was a proud graduate of Central High School, Class of 1968, and went on to attend Prairie View A&M University. Deborah married James Hall, Jr., and they moved to Houston, Texas. To this union, two children were born: Deptonja and Isaac.

Later in life, Deborah returned to Galveston and was briefly employed at UTMB as a surgical technician. She later became a crossing guard with the Galveston Independent School District. Her life was forever changed by a near-fatal accident when she courageously risked her own safety to save the lives of the children she was responsible for helping cross the street.

Deborah loved the Lord and had a deep appreciation for gospel music. She was a faithful member of New Vision Baptist Church. While singing was not her formal ministry, she sang with joy and passion.

Deborah was preceded in death by her parents, Ida Mae Sinegaure and Clarence Booker, and her sister, Paula James. Deborah leaves behind cherished memories with her devoted daughter, Deptonja Hall Smith, and son-in-law, Ernest Smith; son, Isaac Hall; grandchildren, JaMarcus Evans, Jamal Evans, Richard Arthur, Jr., Derrick Decker, Jr., Isaiah Hall, and bonus grandson, Ernest Smith, Jr.; 18 great-grandchildren; devoted niece, Nyree James; devoted nephews, Byron James and Ewing James; sisters, Ann

Houston, Meta Booker, Reta Booker, and Fabare Booker-Barton; favorite cousin, Fred Watson; and a host of other loving family members and friends. Deborah's life was a testament to faith, courage, and love. She will be deeply missed and forever remembered.
