Karen Denise Price, a devoted mother, beloved community member, and retired Baton Rouge Police Officer, passed away peacefully at the age of 69.

Born on October 6, 1956, in Webster, Texas, Karen was a woman of strength, intelligence, and deep compassion. She later made her home in Baton Rouge, Louisiana, where she built a life grounded in service, education, and family.

Karen proudly served the Baton Rouge community for many years as a police officer, dedicating her career to protecting and uplifting those around her. Her sense of duty and unwavering commitment left a lasting impact on all who knew her. After retiring from the force, she continued to lead by example, offering kindness, wisdom, and encouragement to everyone she met.

Karen held a Master of Arts in Language, reflecting her lifelong love of learning and communication. Her deep appreciation for words and culture enriched both her professional and personal life.

She is lovingly remembered by her children, Anthony Rivous Williams and Ruebin Sean Williams, who were the pride and joy of her life. Karen's legacy lives on in their hearts and in the lives she touched through her courage, grace, and enduring love.

A celebration of Karen's life will be held in Baton Rouge, with details to be announced. In lieu of flowers, the family asks that donations be made in her honor to a local organization supporting law enforcement families or youth education programs—two causes close to her heart.

Karen will be deeply missed but never forgotten. Her spirit, strength, and warmth live on in those who knew and loved her.
